Don't replace - REPAIR IN-HOUSE AND SAVE!

Buying Replacement Units!

Is your casino totally self-sufficient in repairing monitors, power supplies, bill validators and ticket printers or are you throwing away hundreds or thousands of dollars purchasing replacement units? While it is not exactly a "hidden" cost to your department, some slot managers simply accept the price of replacements as the "cost of doing business" while it progressively nibbles away at the casino's bottom line. IT DOESN'T HAVE TO BE THIS WAY.

My Two Week Slot Tech School Brings the Training to Your Casino

In truth, most electronic repairs are pretty easy. Often, it's just a matter of testing and replacing a small handful of inexpensive, off-the-shelf electronic components. Sometimes, it's just one. For example, it costs less than 25 cents in parts to repair the most common failure in Bally power supplies. The entire process takes about five minutes.

LET ME SHOW YOUR SLOT TECHS THE QUICK AND EASY WAYS TO REPAIR CASINO ELECTRONICS
You will see an immediate savings to the casino, starting with the in-house repairs that will be performed during the class!

About Randy Fromm: I am the publisher of Slot Tech Magazine. First published in 2001, Slot Tech Magazine is a monthly trade journal focusing on casino slot machine repair. I have been repairing electronics for the gaming industry since 1972. I really enjoy what I do and I love showing others how easy it can be. No previous knowledge of electronics is required.
