Sportsbook Chairs

Whether players are playing the ponies all day or watching a 3-hour football game, seating comfort is a priority in sportsbooks. Now the casino seating comfort experts at Gary Platt have revealed their new line of chairs specifically for sportsbooks.

Gary Platt's new line of chairs are the most comfortable on the planet, and are perfect for an existing sportsbook, or for a new sportsbook. Unless they are standing and cheering a goal or a race result, sportsbook patrons are sitting, and these chairs are proven to provide a more comfortable experience that encourages patrons to stay and enjoy the game longer.

Gary Platt's sportsbook line features chairs from across the company's portfolio that are field-proven to be player-favorites. Styles in the sportsbook line include Lido, Gazelle, Barona, Sierra, Monaco, San Remo, Riva, Bleu, Vue, Capri, and Ohio. Each chair is customizable to fit each individual casino's design, with a wide range of upholstery, finishing, and base styles to choose from.

Operators can easily peruse seating solutions on Gary Platt's newly designed website. Users can quickly search by use or by style to find the perfect fit for the sportsbook and every area of the property, on the casino floor, in the back office, and in the convention area.

"Confluence" Wool Blanket

Eighth Generation is a Native-owned and operated company based in Seattle, Washington. In 2015, Eighth Generation became the first Native-owned company to ever produce wool blankets. Since then, they've created over 50 blankets - 100% of them designed by Native artists who are paid for their work.

"Confluence" is a queen-sized wool blanket designed by David Robert Boxley (Tsimshian), representing the powerful and inextricable connection between humans and the world around us, and is a reminder of our responsibility to care for it.

Eighth Generation's vast array of products are available for bulk and ceremonial discounts, as well as wholesale. ♣
